

JEET 4

1.) A wave packet is a mathematical construct for describing the wave behavior of a particle. A wave packet is constructed as a linear combination of plane waves of definite wave length.

2.) Perhaps if the phase speed (the frequency of the individual components of the wave packet) diverges from the group speed (the aggregate frequency) you get a type of wave packet dispersion.